Quantum for Mobiles 27€ (incl. p&p).

The Quantum for Mobiles device responds to the stress signals affecting the body from a mobile phone. The combination of both essential crystals and metals mirrors these signals and returns them to the body therapeutically (Bio-resonance).

In this way, the numerous health problems experienced by many mobile phone users (headaches, hot ear, etc.) are greatly reduced.

How do we know that it works? Well, quite apart from the fact that over 65,000 Quantum for mobiles devices have been sold in the past three years with confirmation feedback from satisfied users, a scientific study was carried out in Norway early in 2003 by Theratronics laboratories under the direction of Ph.D Bjørn Øverbye.

Quantum for mobiles was developed by Professor Svetoslav Danev (Former Head of the Department of 'Labour Hygiene' in the Bulgarian National Centre for Hygiene, Medical Ecology and Nutrition). He had been working on the problem of how to protect workers from the stress effects of electromagnetic (EM) fields and, whilst he found that protecting employees from EM in the workplace was relatively simple, it was a totally different matter when he considered the protection of individual mobile phone users which became far more challenging.

Having spent many years developing his "Dantest" apparatus, which successfully measures stress in the human body, Prof Danev realised that the more stress the blood received, the more susceptible it was to disease. He found that stress adversely affected the red corpuscles in the blood and took the view that there must be a natural method in nature that would neutralise this stress.

He subsequently developed a device that concentrated on enhancing the natural self-protective immune system in order to effectively neutralise the harmful emissions from a mobile phone. Since the Spring of 2000, this device has been successfully marketed under the names Quantum, Vector 100, and Biophone.

Frequently Asked Questions

Q. If mobiles are allegedly so dangerous, why do governments allow them to be sold?

A. Why do governments allow cigarettes to be sold when the danger is known? Perhaps for tax revenues? Also, mobiles are banned on aircraft and in hospitals as they interfere with sensitive electrical devices. Can you think of a more electrically sensitive device than the human brain?

Q. Why do some scientists disagree that mobiles are dangerous?

A. Most tests have been to measure the effect of radiated heat. Quantum has been tested biologically, which is the only effective and logical method. Remember that most scientists said that asbestos and thalidomide was safe.

Q. How does Quantum compare with shields and hands free kits?

A. Shields are a waste of money according to the Consumer Association (UK) (Which magazine) and hands free kits boost the harmful effects according to the same source.

Q. When does the two-year effective lifespan of the Quantum start?

A. Quantum is activated by the radiation from the mobile when it is first switched on after being fitted.

Q. Is Quantum guaranteed?

A. Yes. Quantum is guaranteed against faulty parts and workmanship, subject to fitting in accordance with the instructions and normal conditions of use, for a period of one year from the date of purchase. (This does not cover accidental loss).

Q. What about wholesale?

A. Contact us. We can supply packaged or not and with your own company logo if required. Email sales@quantumformobiles.com with your query.

Studies

The background

An enormous amount of background information has been written in the last few years about the perceived dangers of mobile phone usage. Knowledge of the hazards of non-ionising radiation has been around for the last 50 years. Whereas the Russians took these problems seriously, it would appear that Western industrial societies have weighted the economic benefits against health problems and decided that the economy was more important than public health.

In a recent paper issued by the Independent Expert Group on Mobile Phones (IEGMP) (commissioned by the UK government) and led by Sir William Stewart, it was stated that mobile phone users might well experience long term exposure effects that will damage health. Children were especially at risk due to their thinner skulls, and mobile phone producers were particularly criticised for luring children to use mobiles as 'back to school' essentials.

Quote: "For the first time in history, we are holding a high-powered transmitter against the head. When you talk on your mobile, your voice is transmitted from the antenna as radio frequency radiation between 800MHz and 1990MHz which is right in the middle of microwave territory." (Ross Adey, a professor of biochemistry at the University of California, Riverside)
